Calf killings continue in Leetown; 'Big Foot' roams NWest Hancock

by EDGAR PEREZ

The northwest Hancock County area remained astir this week with continued killing and mutilation of cattle on a Leetown farm and confirmation of a "big foot" creature roaming the Caesar woods is a huge black bear.

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner reported the gunshot death and mutilation of a third calf in as many weeks on the Old Picayune Road farm of Lynn McGehee of Waveland.

And in the same area in an unrelated animal incident, Mississippi Game Warden C. J. Cameron of Hancock County said State Crime Lab analysis proves hair found in the area where a "Caesar Big Foot" has been reported came from a bear.

"And from the size of his tracks, it would be a black bear," Cameron said, adding, "It sure is a big one."

"The tracks are unusually large," the game warden continued, "He must be a very old bear."

Cameron discounted the possibility of the huge old bear, or any other bear, would attack cattle and urged anyone sighting the animal not to shoot it.

"Let me say that it is strictly illegal to shoot bear in this state," Cameron stated, adding, "I'm sure he wouldn't harm any person or property."

Cameron noted that a bear sighting is not an unknown occurrence in this part of the country, adding he has seen tracks of a mother bear and cubs along the banks of the Wolf River.

"This would be the place for one to be," Cameron said of the bear which is apparently the cause of rumors circulating about the "Caesar Big Foot" which reportedly roams the Catahoula Creek bottomlands.

"There are probably more than one, we just haven't head about them yet," the warden added.

Cattlemen in the area have expressed concern over periodic stampeding of herds and concern for future security of their animals.

The warden noted the north Hancock County area with extensive rugged and unpopulated lands is an ideal area to

Libraries plan special events through week

The City-County Library, US-90, Bay St. Louis, and its branches in Waveland and Kiln have listed the following events to be held from Saturday, April 1, through Saturday, April 8, in connection with National Library Week:

Saturday, April 1—
The second annual National Library Week Field Day will be observed at the City-County Library from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. featuring refreshments, games and a live radio broadcast.

Super Sunday, April 2—
Open house at the City-County Library from 1 to 4 p.m. will feature the Hancock County Art Exhibit and showing of the private collection of Glynn and Pati Bannister, as well as entertainment by a select group from the Bay Senior High Chorus.

A Waveland Library open house from 1 to 4 p.m. will feature entertainment by the Crescent City Sternwheelers with Walter Chamberlain on banjo, Basil Kennedy on swanette, and Louis Burghard on piano as well as Dr. and Mrs. Life, Fred Horn and arts and crafts exhibits on the library grounds. The Kiln Library will feature entertainment by the Moran Family Gospel Singers at 1 to 4 p.m. open house.

The public is invited to special exhibitions at Hancock North Central High and Elementary School Libraries to be featured during open house from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday.

Monday, April 3—
Observance of National Library Week continues at the City-County Library Monday with an entertainment program from 4 to 5 p.m. by Rev. and Mrs. Charles Clark of Waveland Assembly of God Church.

Fishing vessel finance bill clears Senate

Legislation authored by Congressman Trent Lott, R-Miss., to decrease the initial investment required on loans to build or recondition fishing vessels has been approved by the U.S. Senate.

The bill, approved by the U.S. House of Representatives earlier this year, is expected to be sent to the President for his signature soon. "Passage of this bill by both houses of the Congress reflects a commitment to the fishermen of this nation to improve the quality of their lives," Lott said.

The legislation will permit the federal government to guarantee obligations for financing fishing vessels up to 87 and one-half percent of the actual construction or reconditioning cost. Under current law, the government may guarantee up to 75 percent on loans through the National Marine Fisheries Service.

The practical impact of the legislation is to slash in half the amount of money that the fishermen themselves must put up to build a new vessel or renovate an older one. "The measure is designed to make it easier for an individual fisherman to obtain a loan so that he may have the benefit of as modern a vessel as possible," Lott said.

Picasso, Dali to vie with local art works

Hancock County Library System has announced an eleventh hour addition to its planned "Super Sunday" activities, being staged in connection with National Library Week.

The art show, to be open from 1-4 p.m., at the City-County Library on US-90, Bay St. Louis, will now be in two, separate sections.

On the one side will be the announced Second Annual National Library Week Art Exhibit, limited to the works of Hancock County artists. On the other, the new feature, a showing of the private collection of Glynn and Pati Bannister.

The local artists' second annual show is being co-chaired by Deborah Yarborough and Heidi Taylor, both artists in their own right.

The reception, being staged in connection with the exhibit, is being chaired by Mrs. Robert Hamilton.

Local artists allowing their works to be included in the exhibit are: Gladys Haas, Ruth Lewis, Therese Elmer, John Isom, Sara Dodge Kimbrough, Carl Baldenhofer, Deborah Yarborough, Heidi Taylor, Nadine Stamm, Neil Ducomb, Lucille Morrison, Dale Russell James, Brian Russell.

Also being shown are the works of Hancock County's most noted artists, Pati Bannister and Will Hinds.

Private Collection
The private collection being made available for "Super Sunday" is owned by Glynn and Pati Bannister and is one of the most outstanding collections on the Coast.

Included are: an oil by Roberto Lupetti; water color by Ronnie Wells; five primitive oil works of Clementine Hunter; two renditions by Charles Bragg; two works of Tomoy (Mrs. Charles Bragg), two works of Eugene Baker; two Picassos, one a linoleum cut and one an ink etching; and two paintings of Salvador Dali.

Pati Bannister

Born in England into a family of artists, her father being a known portrait painter, her mother an established landscape watercolorist, she began to paint during the early 1940's while she was living in the countryside.

She was enrolled in Slade Academy of Fine Art in London by the mid-40's during which time she illustrated children's books, later though still a teen-ager, doing art work for the J. Arthur Rank Film Studios.

Moving to America she undertook further study in New York before moving to New Orleans.

Her works span the spectrum of children and animals, many of which

Superintendent eyes $2.5 million county school building program

Citing an immediate need for 550 to 600 classroom spaces in any new Junior-Senior High School to be built in the south end of the county, Superintendent Terryl Randolph said this week he feels the feasibility study now being conducted by the state will prove the necessity of the proposed new construction.

"Hancock County is now rated with the fourth highest percentage growth rate in the state.

"We picked up 300 students in the last four years," Randolph said.

He said the school should be built to house between 800 and 1000 students to allow for the continued county growth anticipated with the advent of the annunition plant, DuPont, and other industries.

The superintendent said the need for space in his system is so pressing that even if the new school is built, there will still be a need for 14 new classrooms at Hancock North Central. This need would be spread around the three units,

Court firm on judgement; Bay to pay Warner estate

The financially plagued City of Bay St. Louis received another blow this week as US District Court Judge Harold Cox ordered it to pay a $375,000 negligence judgement, plus $60,000 interest, to the estate of James Ray Warner, II.

Warner was left paralyzed from the neck down, as the result of injuries allegedly received following his diving off an unfinished municipal pier on Friday, July 4, 1969. He died on Nov. 28, 1975 as the result of a urinary tract infection.

The plaintiff subsequent to the accident, brought suit against the city claiming negligence in the posting of warning signs, a suit granted a sizeable jury settlement, later reduced by the trial judge and then by Judge Walter L. Nixon, Jr., to $375,000 plus eight percent interest.

The interest, apparently stopped last week by Judge Cox, already amounts to more than $60,000.

Mayor Larry Bennett early Wednesday, following his being advised of the latest court ruling, said he would have no comment until after he had met with the full city council and his legal counsel.

The city, through its attorneys, had filed a series of requests to the court for relief from the "unfair unjust, and unconscionable judgement."

Mayor Bennett, in speaking of the petitions has previously criticized the award stating it was unfair to penalize the whole city for the stupidity of one man (Warner), who he said repeatedly dove into the water in spite his knowing the depth and that the pier was unfinished.

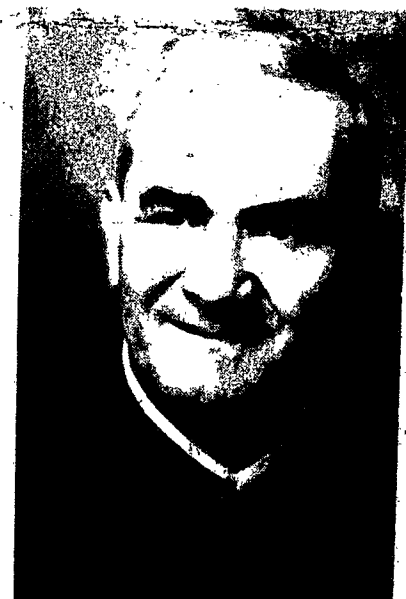

At a former discussion on the subject, Bennett said he agreed the city should pay a portion of the involved medical expenses and some "just" compensation, but stated the court award was an undue and unjust burden on innocent, uninvolved citizens.

The concerned structure was

New gymnasium honors former SSC president

The Brother Peter Memorial Gymnasium and Physical Education Center at St. Stanislaus, will be formally dedicated in ceremonies to begin at 2 p.m., Sunday, April 2. Prior to the ceremonies, beginning at 1:45 p.m., the SSC Concert Band will play suitable selections.

Bishop Joseph Howze of Biloxi will say the opening prayer, following which, Jay Rousseau, president, St. Stanislaus student body and Larry Bennett, mayor, City of Bay St. Louis, will give the welcome.

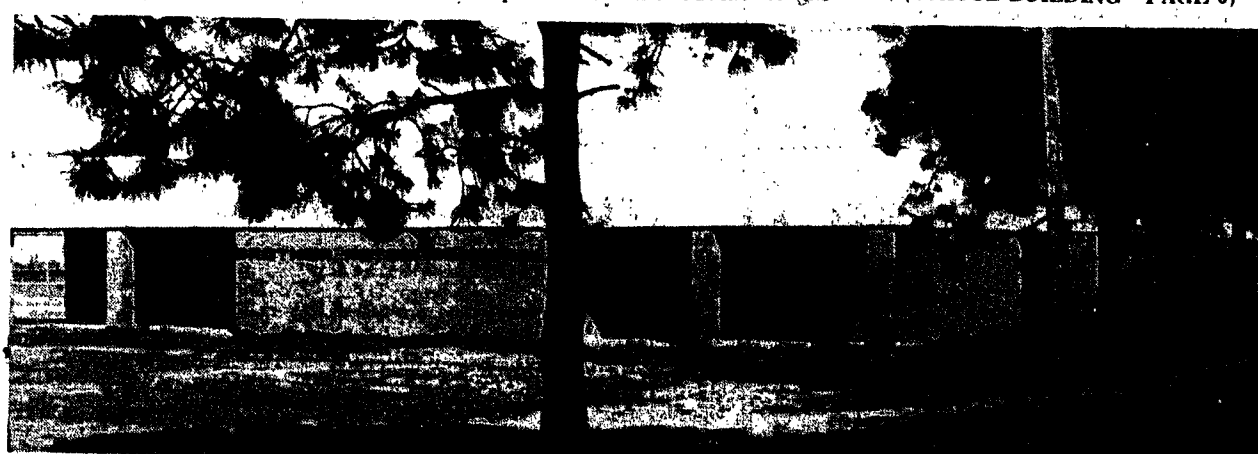

Master of Ceremonies for the dedication will be Lucien Gex, Jr., vice president, SSC Alumni Association, while James Smith, SSC, Class of '45, will present Reflections on Brother Peter, who was a former president of SSC.

Having served in the capacity of teacher, principal, and president, for a total of 25 years at SSC, Brother Peter made the school nationally known through his talks on "Royology."

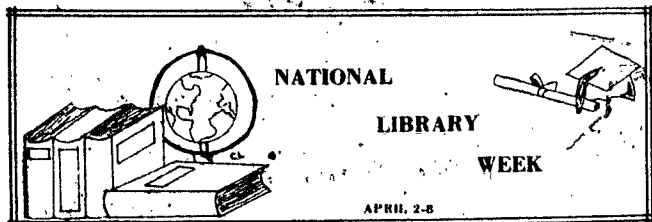

Special guests for the occasion will be William Walker and Lieutenant Governor Jimmy Fitzmorris of Louisiana.

Brother Lee Barker, provincial superior of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart will represent the Brothers. Built by Perillat-Rickey Construction Co., Inc. of New Orleans, the new $700,000 building is designed by architect Fred Wager of Bay St. Louis.

SUPER SUNDAY

The Hancock County Library System will observe Super Sunday at each of its libraries 1 - 4 p.m., April 2, according to Max Berns, National Library Week chairman, Hancock County.

Super Sunday is being planned in accordance with the goal for National Library Week 1978: to promote the value of library services provided by school, public, college-university and others such as church, hospital and business.

Libraries across the state will be encouraging local citizens to visit the library. A sound movie projector will be awarded to the Mississippi Library with the largest percentage of first-time visitors. Special certificates of appreciation will be given to first time visitors.

On Super Sunday at City-County Library, U.S. 90, Bay St. Louis, the second annual Hancock County Art Exhibit will open at 1 p.m. in the Crawford Room, also site of a public reception. At 3 p.m. a select group of Bay Senior High Chorus members, who recently received a superior rating in district competition, will provide entertainment.

Special guests will include Mayor Larry Bennett of Bay St. Louis and members of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors. Special hosts and hostesses will include Joe Pilet, who will show guests some of the fascinating items in the Rare Book Room; John Chevis who will be in the Hancock County Law Library section of the library - to discuss its collection and answer questions; and Margaret Gibbons who will be available to show the valuable records the Hancock County Historical Society has in its collection at the library. The Hancock County Bookmobile

HNC librariesplan 'super'*Super Sunday

Hancock North Central High School and Elementary School libraries, in celebration of National Library Week, will be open from 2 to 4 p.m., 'Super Sunday,' April 2.

The Elementary Library will display three exhibits: The Sunny South, How the West was Won; The Wide World of Sports.

Two additional exhibits will be shown inside the Senior High School Library. The Musical Notes of Spring, and Wildlife in the Spring.

An open invitation has been issued by the schools for public participation in Super Sunday.

PBS selectsMETV blues production

The hour-long documentary "Good Mornin' Blues" tracing the roots of the blues and produced by the Mississippi Educational Television Network has been picked up for national broadcast by the Public Broadcasting Service. Narrated by B. B. King, the show is tentatively scheduled to be shown over PBS's 250 member stations in late spring or early summer.

A new music series entitled "Music of Man" is currently under joint production by METV and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

The series is hosted by concert violinist Yehudi Menuhin and explores man's music from the tribal chant to the rock concert and symphony orchestra.

In addition, completion is expected by the end of the year of a documentary being filmed by METV on preservation of Mississippi's natural heritage.

The work was planned in conjunction with the Mississippi Wildlife Heritage Committee and deals with planned development of Mississippi's resources and the importance of safeguarding the state's natural wealth.

will also be on display on the library grounds.

WAVELAND LIBRARY

During the open house on Super Sunday at the Waveland Library, arts and crafts demonstrations will be held on the grounds. Some of the many demonstrations will be needle crafts by Gerry Blanchard; pen and ink drawings by Scott Hasney; shadow box appliques by Mrs. Kearney Robert; woodburning by Judy Sanders; sculpturing by Hamilton Guenard; painting by Yvonne Hasney; decorations with tatting by Doris Thomson; painting by Maureen Kilmer.

Entertainment will be provided by a group composed of Dr. and Mrs. Life, Louis Burghard, and Fred Horne. Banjo music will be provided by Walter Chamberlain assisted by Basil Kennedy.

KILN LIBRARY

During the open house at the Kiln Library, the well-known Moran Family will perform gospel music. Special guests will include Norton Haas, and Hancock County Supervisors Sam Perniciaro and Oscar Peterson. If you haven't visited the Kiln Library, this is an excellent opportunity. It is a most unusual library in that it is set up like a bookstore.

"I urge every person in Hancock County to visit the four library units in the Hancock County Library System on Super Sunday and bring a guest who has never visited them," said Max Berns. "There's no better time to find out what is available to you in and through the library."

WORK OF FAMOUS SCULPTOR - This bust is on display at the City-County Public Library. It was presented to the Library in 1964 by world famous sculptor, Richard Barthe, of Bay St. Louis. It is a bust of Mrs. Thelma Thomas Landry, daughter of the second librarian, Mrs. Catherine Wilson. Barthe's works are on display throughout the world. The Library will have an art collection on display from 1-4 p.m. Sunday in celebration of National Library Week. (Staff photo-Ellis Cuevas)

Senior Citizens Happenings

BY FRED HORN

By FRED HORN RECREATION

The Seniors birthday party in March at the Waveland Civic Center, with beautiful weather to compensate for the cold days we had for the past two months, helped increase our attendance; approximately 85 Seniors turned out for this event.

All present sang birthday greetings to Ethel Dormain, Thelma Collier, Olga Adams, Louis Portier, Cora Bond, Electa Ladner, Sarah Williams, Anna Marsh, and Lorena Bowman. Winner of the birthday present was Ethel Dormain, and door prize was won by Carrie Williams.

Entertainment started with our talented friend, Louis Burghard, playing a medley of tunes. The seniors then joined "yours truly" in a community song fest. The feature act for this month was June Dearman and her puppet show. Ms. Dearman, all of us, thank you for a wonderful performance, your continuity and the variety presented in your act, shows that you can go far in the field of entertainment.

FEATURE ACT

Every month we will present a feature act, along with Louis Burghard and yours truly. The feature act for the April birthday will be Captain Homer, an excellent magician. Captain Homer is stationed at Keesler Air Force Base.

Our special thanks to the following RSVP volunteers who help to make all of our events successful: telephone committee, Mrs. Jewell Stratton, Eva Ruhr, Cecile Galivan, Odette Watkins, Anna Marsh, Maggie Dambino, Lucie Bratt and Nina Garner; baking cakes, Rose (Pete) Carr, Lucille Hebert, Bea Favre, Gertie Fayard, Louise Banks, Cora Bond, and a gentleman who left a cake, but no one knew who it was. Servers, Julia Leddy, Rena Travirca, Ethel Dormain, Lela Curry, Audrey Curet, adopted RSVP Volunteer, and Thelma White who also registered all of the senior citizens attending this event.

Our apologies to Esther Cuevas, RSVP Volunteer, for omitting her name from this column for baking cakes for both of our monthly events, on several occasions. Thank you Esther. To err is human, to forgive is divine, as you have already stated to me. I forgive you.

ART CLASS

The art class has an original oil painting painted by Carl Baldenhofer, encased in a unique frame, that is for sale. Anyone interested in this painting please contact Jim Hoda, Carl Baldenhofer or Fred Horn, 467-9292. This is an opportunity of a life time to own an original painting.

R.S.V.P.

Governor Cliff Finch of Mississippi has declared that the month of April will be volunteer month. It gives all volunteers an opportunity to participate in Mississippi's First Annual Volunteer Recognition Program. The program will recognize services by individuals and groups. While every volunteer nominated will be honored, sixteen awards will be given to those volunteers who have made significant contribution to human services in our state.

A special event is being planned for sixteen award winners which will take place Friday, April 28, 1978 in the New State Capitol, Old Supreme Court Chamber on the Second Floor. Award winners will be notified of the exact time. This is an opportunity for all of our RSVP volunteers to be recognized for their outstanding work.

We are proud of our RSVP office in our center, whose volunteers have manned 25 stations, namely: American Red Cross, American Cancer Society, Blood Bank, Buccaner State Park, Civil Defense, County Home, Chamber of Commerce, Mead Start, Hospital Auxiliary, Humane Society, I. & R. Nutrition, Public Library, Recreation R.S.V.P. Day Care for the Elderly, Telephone Reassurance, Waveland Hospitality Center, United Way, Welfare, Waveland Civic Center, Silver Creek, Goodwill, Health Department and Friendly Visitation.

All of our volunteers are to be complimented for giving many hours of their time, in helping many organizations, without any remuneration.

Theresa James, director, RSVP, Rene Carver, her assistant, and Charles Johnson, driver and clerk, have done an excellent job in maintaining the Retired Senior Volunteer Program, in Hancock County. Let's go volunteers, you can make this first volunteer month and our Retired Senior Volunteers Program an outstanding one. This is your chance to be a winner in one or more of the sixteen awards being presented.

Booklet tells of benefits

The Veterans Administration's enlarged booklet covering "Federal Benefits for Veterans and Dependents" is now available from the Superintendent of Documents in Washington, D.C. 20420.

In addition to reflecting the changes resulting from the GI Bill Improvement Act and the new compensation and pension rates, the 71-page booklet provides an updated summary of other VA and non-VA benefits available to veterans and dependents.

One major improvement in the 1978 edition is the listing of toll-free as well as local VA phone numbers. These numbers enable everyone in the 50 states and Puerto Rico to call VA, without charge, to consult a veterans benefits counselor for first-hand information on benefits.

Ask the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office for the IS-1 Fact Sheet.

Guests to the party included: his aunt and uncle, Dorothy and Ben Nicholson; his sister, Veronica Ann; and his cousins, Shannon, Brenda, Louis, Ellis, Benny, Doris Nicholson; Connie, Tammy, and Frankie Ellis.

Starting business workshop is slated

A six-week "how-to" workshop on starting and managing a business is scheduled here each Tuesday beginning March 30 for existing and prospective small business owners.

Participants will meet from 7-10 p.m. at the Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College, Fine Arts Building, Room D-101, Gulfport, Mississippi. The class is sponsored by the Mississippi Research and Development Center and the U.S. Small Business Administration.

"The program is designed to provide participants with practical, proven techniques of management to help the entrepreneur improve his business's performance in today's difficult economic times," said Tom Sanders of the R&D Center.

Sanders said, "We hope to encourage the start-up of new, innovative businesses, as well as enhance the success of existing companies, which should lead to the development of new products and topics to be discussed are create job opportunities for Mississippians."

"All too often lines of interpreting Financial communication are never established between entrepreneurs and the qualified, available resource personnel who can assist them in initiating a new enterprise or improving an existing business."

Sanders said enrollment will be limited to the first 40 registrants. The fee of $30 includes all instruction and workshop materials. Among topics to be discussed are "Forecasting Cash Flow," "Obtaining Capital," "In-

Statements," and "The Functions of Management."

SBA spokesman and project co-chairman Bill Neal said classes have been very successful in teaching promising businessmen the skills necessary to initiate, direct or sustain a new venture.

Those interested in registering for the course should contact Marie Dean, Office Manager, Coast Branch Office, Mississippi Research and Development Center at 864-3302.

REV. M.A. WILLIAMS

Services were Monday at Divine Word Seminary, Bay St. Louis, for Rev. Maxine A. Williams, SVD, who died Saturday, March 25, at Ochsner Clinic, New Orleans. He was 66 years old.

A Mass of Resurrection was offered in the seminary chapel on Tuesday, with Most Reverend Joseph A. Francis, Auxiliary Bishop of Newark, N.J., as main celebrant, assisted by Most Rev. Harold S. Perry, Auxiliary Bishop of New Orleans, the Very Rev. Terry Steib, Provincial Superior of the Southern Province, and other Divine Word Missionaries. Bishop Perry delivered the homily. Interment was at Divine Word Seminary of St. Augustine's Cemetery in Bay St. Louis.

Born in Bay St. Louis, May 29, 1911, he was the son of the late Norman and Rosalie Farve Williams.

Rev. Williams entered the Divine Word Seminary of St. Augustine's in Bay St. Louis, on Sept. 15, 1928. After completing novitiate training, he pronounced his first vows on Dec. 8, 1935, at Divine Word Seminary, East Troy, Wisconsin, and his final vows as a member of the Divine Word Missionaries, on Dec. 8, 1940, in Bay St. Louis.

Ordained a priest on Jan. 6, 1941, at Divine Word Seminary, he was offered his first Mass at St. Rose de Lima Church, his home parish in Bay St. Louis.

His assignments included, Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, Lafayette, La.; Rochester, New York; Asbury Park, New Jersey; St. Martinville, La.; Scott, Duxon and Pluton, all Louisiana communities; and Mound Bayou and Vicksburg in Mississippi. In 1961, he joined the Cistercians, a cloistered community dedicated to a life of prayer, study and extraordinary penitential observances, returning to missionary work several years later.

He retired due to ill health in 1972, to the LaTou Nursing Home of the Holy Family in New Orleans, where he stayed until his death.

STANLEY A. MCCAFFREY
Stanley A. McCaffrey, 57, Gulfport, died Sunday at his home, 19 Woodglen Drive.

The retired owner of McCaffrey Body Shop in Gulfport, he was born March 23, 1921, in Columbia, and had lived on the Coast since 1950.

A veteran of World War II, serving in the U.S. Air Force, he was a member of the Southern Star Masonic Lodge in Long Beach, was a Baptist, and a Shriner.

Historical Society group tackles two topics

The proposed statue, to be cast in bronze, portraying King Louis IX of France, after whom the Bay of St. Louis was named, to be executed by Dr. Richmond Barthe of Bay St. Louis, attracted the attention of the Hancock County Historical Society this week.

Meeting on Monday in the office of Lucien Charmichael on Main St., Bay St. Louis, society members concentrated on ways and means available to them for raising their share of the statue's cost, the bronze.

A separate discussion centered on the now developing Bartram Trail, a trail to encompass portions of Hancock County.

Present for the session were: Louis Fernandez, president; Mickey Polk, Helene Price, Jerome Boudreaux, Lucille Boudreaux, Horatio Weston, Odile Carter, and Peggy Gibbons.

Sunday's activities started with a lovely service by Rev. Nathan Barber of the First Baptist Church in Bay St. Louis and a singing group from Grace Memorial Church in Gulfport. We are attempting to contact any church choirs for an all day gospel sing sometime in June. Certainly, after Grace Memorial Church's performance, we would be delighted to have them return.

EASTER SERVICE
An Easter mass celebrated by Father Albert Gaurino drew a large crowd of worshippers to tour recreation hall Saturday night. We certainly did appreciate Father Albert's special trip to the park for this service.

After Mass a number of people went out to the beach to enjoy a grand bonfire.

Mrs. Life represents Republicans

Mrs. J. Harrison Life, chairman, senior citizens for the National Federation of Republican Women, will represent the federation, April 6, in Philadelphia, Pa., at the 82nd annual meeting of the American Academy of Social and Political Science.

"Planning for the Elderly" will be the topic of the meeting.

Joseph A. Califano, secretary, Health, Education and Welfare will be the featured speaker.

Mrs. Life is president of the Waveland Association of Senior Citizens, and the Hancock County Women's Republican Club.

Included in his studies were seamanship, close-order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

He joined the Navy in December 1977.

NEW INSIGNIA - Major General William E. Eicher, left, commander, US Army Armament Materiel Readiness Command, pins insignia on Lieutenant Colonel Jerome C. Donlinger, right, commander of the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant, NASA-NSTL. Promoted earlier this month from the rank of major, Donlinger has over 16 years of military service. He holds a bachelor's degree in business from the University of Nebraska and a master's in management from the Air Force Institute of Technology, Fairborn, Ohio. The colonel came to Picayune in January from HQ, ARRCOM, where he was director of plant operations.

Buccaneer Crew Notes

by DUDLEY QUINN

What a weekend! Wednesday night our campground filled and we went full blast from then on. Although no campers participated in our basketball class we did have some interested onlookers. I would like to remind you that our class is always open to newcomers.

FLOWER ARRANGING

Friday morning started with our flower arranging class. Campers made lovely natural arrangements of driftwood, wax myrtle, and pine boughs. This class was followed by a round of volleyball games enjoyed by all who played. Competition really gets fierce out there, but it all ends in fun. Later in the afternoon, a tennis tournament was won by Kirk Kornrumpf of Metairie, La.

With Tom Ragas of Lusher taking second place, (I claim!) I still say the gnats won!

Saturday began with 23 children making Easter cards for their parents and the Easter Bunny. Many pop-up rabbits on those cards greeted that generous Bunny. This craft session was followed by a foosball tournament which was won by two Waveland boys, Don Fayard and John Zimmerman. Their team beat Robert Dickerson of Avondale, La. and Trent Boyd of Baton Rouge.

Harvey Burkes spins couple of tall tales

by S. Grady Thigpen,

Hancock County historian

W.H. (Harvey) Burkes born in the 1870s and who lived all his life up on Pearl River northwest of Picayune in what was then Hancock County has a most tentative memory in which was stored many stories of the late 1800s.

The father of W.H. Burkes, Joe Burkes, Sr., had many cattle and sheep up into the hundreds of each. To maintain his unusually large operation for that time a number of black people living in the general area were employed to do farm work in the production of food for the family and feed for livestock.

After the evening meal was served to the family and to the workers on the farm, it was customary to sit around for a time and tell stories of the old days. One story he heard at these late-evening meetings was about a man who lived on Pearl River not far north of the Burkes place who made a living for a number of years during slavery time selling his brother-in-law.

One of the daughters of this family married a man who came there from no one knew where. This brother-in-law was very dark complected - so dark that he could pass for a mulatto.

This brother-in-law and a brother of his wife contrived a way to get needed money. The brother would take the dark complected brother-in-law with him and go to some distant place where all of them were unknown, and pass him off as his slave. The brother would select a place to stop at where he was informed there was someone with ready cash to pay a good price for a slave. He would let it be known that he badly needed money and would sell his slave (actually his brother-in-law) at a low price.

He would wax effusive in his praise of his slave, telling what a good worker he was and then almost shed tears in telling how badly he hated that he had to sell him in order to get badly needed money. There was a good market for a slave of the kind he described.

His price for the man was $1,000, considered a fair price for a good man at that time. He would say "take him and try him for a week, see what he can do, see what a fine fine workman he is, and let him show you the many things he can do well. He is a willing worker, he is the best."

As the story told by Mr. Burkes goes, the buyer would agree to try him out. Break-field, the name of the purported slave was a good workman. He could do most anything well around a plantation. During this trial week he would work hard to please the man interested in buying him. He always made a good impression such a good impression that he was successful several times in being sold for $1,000 in cash.

To pull off a deal like this the two men always made it a point to go so far away from home that they would not be recognized and to pretend they were from some other place than their real home. They one time pulled off this deal in Covington County which was a long ways from home back in those days with slow travel and poor roads. Another time they went over into Alabama but pretended they were from some other place, probably Georgia or Florida.

Breakfield would take such an interest in his work in his new home and be so efficient in what he did that he would soon gain the confidence of his new owner. After a few days or weeks, he would begin to watch out for an opportunity to escape.

When such an opportunity came, he would slip away in the opposite direction of the location of his home. He would circle back around through the country, always then cleaning up and passing as a white man. When he arrived home, he and his brother-in-law would split the $1,000.

Back then $1,000 would buy as much and be worth as much as $10,000 of our present day inflated money. Mr. Burkes said he heard this old tale told a number of times and each time the black folks present would get a big laugh out of it.

Mr. Burkes liked to describe his early experiences in going to church. He wore knee length pants back then as did all small boys. Everyone would kneel for prayer in country churches back in those days. He had on knee pants at this particular service. He knelt with his bare knees on the rough floor. He said "That preacher must have prayed for an hour". "My knees got so sore and cramped and I could hardly stand it." After that I would pull off my coat, and fold it up and place it under my knees, saying to myself, "Go to it old horse, I can stay with it as long as you can."

"Our church back then was very strict; You could not curse, get tight, or run a Horse Race if you did any of these things someone would report you to the church. One time I got a little too much to drink. In a few days the pastor came to see me and said if I would give him $2.50 he would not report me to the church and that my case would not come up. I paid him the $2.50. The case never did come up in the church. I thought to myself, he must really have needed that $2.50.

"The 'Big Meeting' at our church, as it was called back then, was held late in October for many years. Just about everyone within a 20 mile radius must have come to these special meetings. There would be present every kind of conveyances from ox wagons, ox carts, horses, and conveyances pulled by horses. "The 'Big Meeting' always started on Saturday and lasted until Wednesday or Thursday or until all the cakes and pies and custards were eaten. My dad would kill a cow and divide it into 4 parts with the neighbors.

"The 'Big Meeting' was the big event of the year, about the only time of the year when everyone had something to go to. All the land in those days was covered in trees, mostly pine trees, except a few acres around farm homes which were in cultivation. This woodland provided a place out of sight of the church, where people who wanted to could trade horses. There were always those who took advantage of the outpouring of people and much horse trading was done, always out of sight of the church. Others brought whiskey to sell and drink and hid it in the woods. These folks would come on Saturday and some stay for days.

"One year on Saturday morning, the preacher who was to do the preaching had not arrived at preaching time. Someone mentioned that the preacher had been seen out in the nearby woods. Mr. Mitchell suggested that someone go out there and bring him in as service time had come. The messenger soon returned saying he was out there drunk and had said "Give me another drink boys" and was cussing a blue streak. About that time the preacher rode up on his horse. It turned out that the preacher had a twin brother who looked just like him and that twin brother who was bad to drink was the one out in the woods. That same preacher performed my marriage ceremony July 29, 1897."

Good wholesome fun

On Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., one can get a lot of laughs with a visit to the City-County Public Library in Bay St. Louis.

The occasion will be the annual Field Day, sponsored by the Library. Refreshments and snacks will be sold by the Friends of the Library, so mothers won't have to worry about dinner for the family. We understand that hot dogs will be available and we haven't heard of a kid yet who doesn't like them.

You can see some of your fearless political leaders in horseshoe matches, civic organizations battle in Volleyball, and a few surprises.

Youth will compete in such things as egg throws, balloon blowing, three legged races, and so forth. Sounds like an old time fair.

We recommend you make it a date for the family on Saturday to visit the gala event. We know some of the political contestants, and we think a few of them have only lifted a fork for the past 20 years.

We can think of no better prelude to National Library Week, which starts Sunday, than the "big comedy of errors" the day before.

The state of the American taxpayer

Being circulated throughout the country is a simulated dollar bill which brings sharply into focus certain facts about the American economy.

The simulated dollar bill is divided into three sections, like this:

- Forty-two percent of the bill (42 cents of $1.00) goes for the taxes you pay - federal, state, or local.

- Another twenty-six percent (26 cents of every $1.00) is taken by inflation.

- Thirty-two percent (32 cents of every $1.00) is left for the wage earner.

And the point is made that taxes are going up... inflation is still with us... and the relatively few cents left for the wage earner are on the decline. The Mississippi Economic Council, recognizing this trend years ago, has continued to speak for sound fiscal management and effective use of tax dollars.

Never has the need for fiscal responsibility been needed more than today. Now is the time for the Congress, for the Legislature, and for local government officials to trim the fat from government spending, to eliminate unnecessary expenditures, and to consider the impact of rising taxes and unbridled inflation on the taxpaying public.

Letters to the Editor

On the animals

The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Dear Sir:

What a heart rendering piece of news, the unmerciful torture of a helpless beast, a calf, near Leetown. Some who have no sympathy for animals, may remark thus: "Why get excited, it was not a human being." Have they ever once considered that a person capable of such an act would not hesitate to do the same torture upon a human being, if he possessed a sadistic mentality. I shall pray fervently that who ever did this horrible thing, shall soon be caught and convicted.

Very sincerely,
Eleanor Everett McFie

NATIONAL LIBRARY WEEK

Did you know that . . .

The first Coca Cola was bottled in Vicksburg, Mississippi in 1894? (1854)?

Mississippi has more churches in proportion to population than any other state in the nation?

You'd know this and more after a visit to your local library -- the place to go for answers.

Did you also know that . . .

Mississippi was one of the first states to cash in on revenue sharing funds for building libraries resulting in sixty-six new libraries built since FY 1975, with thirty-four more in the planning stage? However, Mississippi has only 1.57 items (includes books and audio/visual materials) per capita and American Library Association's standard (1966) is 2-4 items per capita.

Mississippi has a personnel grant program which helps to pay qualified librarians across the state? Yet Mississippi does not have an accredited library school which results in the loss of numerous qualified librarians to other states.

As you can see, Mississippi libraries have come a long way but have a long way to go still.

What can you do to help? Drop by your library and talk to the librarian about the areas in which your library needs help. Ask the librarian what you can do to help. Then follow through!

Libraries in Mississippi have much to offer to the citizens of this state. Isn't it about time Mississippians started doing their part?

Hancock County Library System

Concerning his resignation

Statement issued by Senator James Eastland

My friends - and fellow Mississippians -

Circumstances have changed since October - and the new circumstances have caused me to change an important decision.

I want to tell the people of Mississippi - who have been so good and generous to me - that I will not be a candidate for another term.

I have conveyed my decision to key leaders for sound reasons.

I wanted it known to our Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and Speaker of the House while our Legislature is in session. I have no recommendation to offer on dates for primary elections. I simply feel that our state government should be in the position to take whatever action - if any - is deemed appropriate on this matter.

I have advised the leadership of both political parties so that they can make proper preparations for the primaries.

I have informed the members of our Congressional Delegation - of both parties - in spirit of fairness to teammates.

That same spirit applies to any and all potential candidates for a post which I have been honored to hold for the citizens of Mississippi.

Those citizens have permitted me to serve with eight Presidents and with some of the most distinguished Senators and Congressmen in the history of this Republic. They made it possible for me to be acting Vice President twice and to stand third in the line of Presidential succession. They elevated me to the high offices of President Pro Tempore, Chairman of Judiciary and Ranking Majority Member of Agriculture and Forestry.

When I declared my intention to qualify for renomination - I did so with the feeling that these positions of power and influence belonged to the people I represent. The posts were their to recover at will - but not mine to lay down.

Based on the advice of my doctors, I was confident that I could effectively discharge the range of duties imposed by the demanding positions I hold in the best interest of my state and nation for another six years.

Now - however - I am faced with this question: Can I discharge those duties - and - at the same time conduct a long and arduous campaign?

I have concluded that the answer is - No!

I have no doubt that I could have - and would have - won the race. While I have commissioned no polls - information made available to me from several polls - and reports from every section of the state indicate - very strongly - that I would have been reelected.

But - the controlling factor here is that - during the coming eight months - the duration of a rigorous and very expensive campaign - matters of the utmost importance to every Mississippian and every American will be before the Congress.

A very abbreviated list would include - among many others - the following six items:

(1) An emergency farm bill - to be followed by permanent legislation to cure the serious ills which beset agriculture and threaten the family farm.

(2) An energy program which will directly affect - not only our lives - but those of our children and grandchildren.

(3) Consideration of the second Panama Canal Treaty - following a decision on the first treaty which two votes would have changed.

(4) The passage of tax legislation having a direct bearing on every working man and woman and on the continued vitality of our economic system.

(5) Possible consideration of a second Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty which is vital to the security of our country and her citizens in this age of nuclear weaponry - and,

(6) I must serve as chairman for three weeks of hearings before my Committee in May which will be aimed at producing a solution for the very serious illegal alien problem which confronts us today.

It is clear to me - and - I believe to more than two million Mississippians - that time for these and other critical issues cannot be divided between my post of duty in Washington and the campaign trail. Matters of this nature require a choice - and I must choose to remain at my post to represent those who have placed their trust in me.

I look forward - with pleasure - to manning my duty station in Washington - and - looking back over the recent past

- I share the pride of our people in the good things we have done together.

Four situations - from a long list which come quickly to my mind are:

(1) The giant strides we are making - and will make - under the Rural Development Program.

(2) The rebuilding and revitalization of our C and G Railroad - which is underway today.

(3) The saving - followed by the launching - at last - of our visionary Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway - and,

(4) The inspiring recovery of our Coastal area from the devastation of Hurricane Camille.

When I depart our Nation's Capital next year to go home - I will do so with many treasured memories - and with no regrets.

I owe a debt I can never repay to the members of my family - to a loyal - dedicated - and effective staff - to advisors and counsellors across our state - and to countless Mississippians who have held up my hand through all the years.

If I have an enemy in Mississippi I know neither his name nor address. And - when I walk out of the Senate I will leave behind me ninety-nine friends - and no enemies.

I will return to the state I love with a heart filled with gratitude to her people - and empty of any feeling of antagonism toward any person.

The citizens of Mississippi have given me an opportunity to serve them for thirty-six years. In return - I have tried to meet the mission they assigned me.

Mississippi has sustained a tradition of good and faithful service in the Senate - as symbolized by my friend and partner - John Stennis. I hope I have upheld that tradition because I wanted to do so much.

Outstanding Senators have preceded me - and outstanding ones will follow me. No one knows better than I that every human is mortal - and that no man or woman is indispensable.

I wish for my successor - whoever he or she may be - the fullest measure of health, happiness and success - and I pledge to him or her my determination to do the best I can for Mississippi to the end of my life.

On this day - and every day - I pray the Lord to bless our state and our country in our time - and for all time.

School Building

elementary, junior high, and senior high schools.

"We have students housed in eight temporary structures (trailers), students housed in the Bay Separate School System, and our elementary administration also housed in a trailer at HNC.

Additional needs cited by Randolph for the proposed new school include an auditorium, cafeteria, and gymnasium.

"The only school auditorium in the whole county is that at Bay Junior High School," he claimed.

Asked where the initial student load would originate to fill any new school, Randolph said, "We are busing 200 senior high school students to Hancock North Central from the south end of the county now.

These students, plus the seventh and eighth grades of Gulfview School, Lakeshore, and Charles B. Murphy, Pearlinton, plus the students living in Diamondhead, plus those students being farmed out to the Bay Separate School District, will more than fill the new school.

Randolph allowed he was aiming at a $2.5 million building program, up and above the now building cafeteria improvements at North Central, and gymnasium renovations and additions at Gulfview.

Apart from the proposed junior-senior high school, new construction is to include the added classrooms and administrative needs at North Central, plus a central school board administration building, also slated for the HNC campus location.

Asked concerning financing, the superintendent said he is considering utilization of new revenues to be derived from 16th Section leases, oil lease and royalty dollars, severance tax payments, plus federal impact funds, as a base for long term financing repayment, plus the more usual tax assessment method.

He said several options lay open to the system for the major financing. One concerns the floating of a bond issue, and the others center around two applications now in the mill for massive government financing.

If successful, either one of the two applications would provide long term, low interest money to the county schools, with the balance coming from the $173,000 due to be refunded to the county on oil lease money now held by the state, and $500,000 in credits accruing with the Educational Finance Commission.

One of the applications centers on funds being made available under the new Coastal Energy Impact Program (CEIP), the other for money under the 815 appropriations, Construction in Federally Impacted Areas.

Randolph admitted the repayment of either of these would have to be based on projected severance tax, oil royalty, lease, and improved 16th Section income payments as insufficient revenues have been forthcoming from any of these resources so far to permit the establishment of trend estimates.

Should the bond route have to be followed, the superintendent said he doubted if repayment rates would exceed $12-20 per taxpayer per year, a representative hike of between six and eight mills.

He reiterated there was a "good possibility" the school district could reduce the millage involved by paying off a portion of the bond from its added revenues.

Asked to elaborate on revenues received for impact children, he said the system receives payment for the children whose parents are employed on a federal facility.

"This year we have 123 federal impact students in our system.

"The funds we get for these students, some $ 4-500 per student, is the only federal revenue a school district can utilize without strict federal guidelines."

Questioned concerning the speed in which oil lease, royalty, severance tax payment volumes, increased 16th Section revenues, and the like, can be included into budget income projections, Randolph said he could not answer at this time.

He did however state he expected the system to derive approximately $50,000 in 1978 from the new 16th Section arrangement, rising at the rate of about 10 percent a year, until in 10 years it would peak out at about $ 250,000.

Stennis speaks on loss to Miss.

of able senator

"As a fellow Senator, as a Mississippian, and as a friend, I regret very much that Senator Eastland has decided to retire. For many years we have worked together in harmony and with a common purpose. I will certainly miss his effective assistance in the Senate. He has served the United States and Mississippi faithfully and well. Both Mississippi and the Nation will miss his services when he leaves the office he has filled with such dedication and distinction.

"Mrs. Stennis and I wish Senator and Mrs. Eastland well in every way and many years of happiness now and when they return home."

Horse show season starts Sunday at Lazy B, Hancock riders to saddle up

The South Mississippi Horse Show and Rodeo Association (SMHS&RA) will open the 1978 horse show season with an approved point show Sunday, April 2, hosted by the Lazy B Riding Club, Biloxi, according to Jimmy Russ, chairman of the SMHS&RA. Show time is 10 a.m. at the club arena, located at the highway junction of 67 and 15 in North Biloxi.

"Halter, performance and timed events for ponies and horses will highlight the full day's program," Russ said. Rodney Thomas, Sumrall, MS, will judge the performance classes.

Youth and adult riders will compete in separate events for trophies and points which are awarded according to the final standing in each event. Russ explained that riders are awarded five points for first place, through one point for fifth place. "These points are accumulative," he said, "and count toward a special association high point award."

In addition, points accumulated in a specific event throughout the season form the basis on which exhibitors and riders are selected to compete in the annual Mississippi State Championship horse show in September.

The SMHS&RA is comprised of riding clubs in South Mississippi whose membership of both families and single persons number more than 300. United they cultivate interest in horses and every horse activity by way of workshops, educational programs, training exercises and exchanging ideas and techniques whenever a group of three or more can get together and chat about their favorite hobby.

The eight member clubs and the location of their show arenas are:

Pearl River County — Picayune Riding Club, County Fairgrounds, Picayune; Hancock County — Hancock County Riding Club, County Fairgrounds, Bay St. Louis; Diamondhead Riding Club, Diamondhead stables;

Harrison County — 21 Riders Riding Club, Landon Rd. north of I-10, 3 miles west of Hwy. 49; Lazy B Riding Club, near the junction of Hwy. 67 and 15, at the north end of the I-110 interchange in North Biloxi; Lyman Riding Club, located on Hwy. 53 (Poplarville Hwy.), 2 and a half miles west of Hwy. 49; Woolmarket Riding Club, near the junction of Fairley Rd. and Wortham Rd. (formerly Palmer Creek Rd.) in Sauter, four miles east of Hwy. 49;

Jackson County — Gulf Coast Barrel Racing Association, scheduled at various locations in the tri-county area; Lazy Y Riding Club, Gautier, also scheduled at various locations in the area.

The governing body of the SMHS&RA consists of five member executive committee, elected for one year by delegates of the general membership (member clubs). Officers for 1978 include: Jimmy Russ, Long Beach; chairman; Shelly Blunt, Biloxi, vice-chairman; Betty Jo Byrd, Gulfport, secretary-treasurer.

The remaining members, immediate past chairmen, include George (Jack) Johnson, Gulfport, 1977, and Earl Switzer, Gulfport, 1976. The point keeper, an appointive position, is Margaret Shippee, Biloxi.

The public is always invited to attend the horse shows and there is no charge for admission.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION - Matt Helm, 15 months, and Johanna Frisby, 5, join in the celebration Monday honoring Mrs. Victoria Necaise Prince on her 90th birthday at the County Home on Dunbar Avenue, Bay St. Louis. The party was hosted by the Relief Society of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. Mrs. Prince, who was born in Waveland in 1888, is the congregation's oldest member, and has been a guest at the home for the past 20 years. She is the daughter of the late Stanislaus Necaise and Victoria Closina Ladner, and was a lifelong resident of Waveland until moving to her current residence. Also attending the celebration was her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Wainwright of Bayou LaCroux. (Staff photo - Edgar Perez)

Notes from Pearlington

By ONA MAE MCARTHUR

By: ONA MAE MCARTHUR
Happy birthday wishes go to Keith Dunahue and Tammy Wilson.

Tammy Wilson celebrated her birthday on Easter with a party given by her parents Mr. and Mrs. John Tzuanos, guests were Chrystal Walters, Andrenia Riley, Chantale Giveans, Sally and Rene Dawsey, Tammy's grandmothers, Mrs. Lori Giveans and Mrs. Antonia Tzuanos and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Knight.

Rev. James Bliss was guest speaker Sunday evening at the Cedar Drive Baptist Church.

Mrs. Lona Smith who has been recovering from a long illness was well enough to visit her son Ray Smith and family, and to attend church with them Easter Sunday.

Barbara Miller and Elaine Frazier invite everyone to a rummage sale at Elaine's Snoball stand on April first. The snoball stand will be open for the weekend. Come see Elaine and Barbara.

The Churches of Pearlington met at the ball park at sunrise Easter for sunrise service. The introduction given by Rev. Karl Wilcox, invocation by Rev. James Lindsey; scripture by Rev. J. L. Rasberry; message by Rev. DePaul Landrigam; choir director, Sharon Wilcox; choir, representatives from all the churches, pianist, Edith Cuevas, and benediction by Rev. Robert Sams.

Get well wishes to Joseph Pepper Giveans from his daughter, Lily Tzuanos.

Our sympathy to family and friends of Marina Gelpi of New Orleans, sister of Frank Giammanchere of Pearlington.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert and Scott attended an Easter dinner honoring Mrs. Celia Ladner in her home, at Kiln, Miss. Mrs. Ladner is recovering recent illness at the Miramar Nursing home but was well enough to return to her home for Easter.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Earlm, Mr. and Mrs. Willard McCarty were visitors of the Louis Miller family of Luling, La.

Fred, Ada Pearl and Cassandra Schmidt were visitors to Pearlington with family and friends.

Get well to L. J. Dunnaway recovering from motorbike accident, Mr. Ora Holden home from the hospital, Gus Garvia in the hospital, Al Landrey New Orleans hospital.

Women of the Church to gather on April 6

Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m., Thursday, April 6, for the annual meeting of the South Mississippi Presbytery of the Women of the Church, at J.J. White Memorial Presbyterian Church, McComb.

First meeting of the session is scheduled for 9:30 a.m., according to Mrs. Frank McCraven, Brookhaven, president.

Rev. Bob Grigsby of Huntsville, Ala., Synod Communicator, Synod of the Mid-South, will bring the message, "Living out Oneness."

The meeting's theme, "A Tour of Women of the Church Program Areas," will be developed through mini-workshops. "These will feature large displays of materials available to help members better carry out the full aims and purposes of the four committees, Personal Faith and Family Life, Christian Community Action, Ecumenical Missions, and Relations, Leadership and Resources," Mrs. McCraven said.

Scianna infant is baptized

John Stephen Scianna Jr., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Scianna Sr., of La Porte, Tex., was baptized Saturday, March 25, at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church, Bay St. Louis, Rev. Morgan Kavanagh, pastor, officiating.

Godparents are Miss Peggy Smith and a paternal uncle, Peter Scianna, both of Bay St. Louis.

Following the ceremony a family gathering was held at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Langenbacker in Waveland.

Sacred Heart Brothers honor six jubilarians

Six Brothers of the Sacred Heart celebrated in community, their Golden Jubilee on Easter Sunday, at St. Stanislaus, Bay St. Louis. Honored for 50 years of service as Brothers of the Sacred Heart were Brother Alban Tucker, Brother Felician Fourrier, Brother Gregory Gru, Brother Howard McLaughlin, Brother Mark Thornton, and Brother Remigius David.

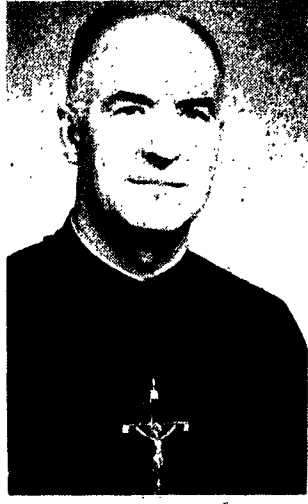

During Holy Mass in St. Stanislaus Chapel, the Jubilarians renewed their vows of chastity, poverty, and obedience.

Brother Alban, a native of Bayou Goula, Louisiana, entered the House of Studies at Metuchen, New Jersey, on April 11, 1928, from St. Vincent's Academy in Baton Rouge, La. He has been stationed in New Jersey, New York, Mississippi, Oklahoma, and Alabama. He was stationed at St. Stanislaus on four different occasions, 1943-'47, 1951-'52, 1958-'62, and 1964 to the present where he is serving as cafeteria manager.

Brother Felician, born in Baton Rouge, attended St. Vincent's Academy there before leaving for Metuchen where he arrived on Aug. 24, 1928. In addition to missionary duties in Kenya and Uganda in Africa, he has undertaken various functions in Canada, New Jersey, New York, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Alabama, serving as the assistant superintendent for the Archdiocese of New Orleans; and, for eight years, as the superintendent of education in the Diocese of Baton Rouge. He is presently a member of the State Board

BROTHER ALBAN

BROTHER FELICIAN

BROTHER GREGORY

BROTHER HOWARD

BROTHER REMIGIUS

of Elementary and Secondary Education for Louisiana and associate director of the Louisiana Conference in Baton Rouge.

Born in Brooklyn, New York, Brother Gregory Gru attended St. Rose de Lima School there, then entered the Juniorate on April 5, 1928. For 35 years Brother Gregory has been stationed at one or another of the Brother's Schools in New Orleans. In addition, he has taught in Canada, Alabama, Mississippi, and in Donaldsonville, La. Since its opening in 1969, Brother Gregory has been stationed at Brother Martin High School in New Orleans.

Brother Howard is also from Baton Rouge. Like Brothers Alban and Felician, he attended St. Vincent's Academy before going to Metuchen on April 11, 1928, to begin his studies for the Order. For over half of this 50-year span, he was a missionary in Uganda, East Africa. Through the years, Brother Howard taught in Louisiana, Alabama, and New York. He is now stationed at Catholic High in Baton Rouge.

Brother Mark, a native of New York, attended St. Mary

Star of the Sea School in Far Rockway on Long Island before entering Metuchen on Oct. 26, 1928. Brother's entire career has been focused on three states, Louisiana, Alabama, and Mississippi. He recently completed two terms of service in Bay St. Louis as Provincial of the New Orleans Province of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart. Brother Mark is stationed in Houma, Louisiana, where he is both Director and teacher.

Brother Remigius, born in Alexandria, Louisiana, attended Menard Memorial High School, there, arriving on April 13, 1928, in Ketuchen to begin training for the Brotherhood. He has taught in New Jersey, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Alabama, and Louisiana. At the present time, Brother Remigius is Professor of Accounting at Southeastern University in Hammond, Louisiana.

demolished about one month later by Hurricane Camille (Aug. 1969).

The court denied the city's petitions for relief late last week.

Earlier the city had submitted a payment plan in which it would apply $42,000 a year to the debt, contending it could not pay in a single, lump sum payment, without incurring illegal millage.

Attorneys for the Warner estate however objected to the plan saying it would take 30 years to satisfy the judgment and interest.

A certified public accountant from Pascagoula, Jerry Mallett, allegedly testified earlier in the month that according to the city's audit report, as of Sept. 30, 1977, Bay St. Louis had $485,000 in surplus funds which could be used to pay the debt.

Further, Mallett testified the total city bonded indebtedness was $1,232,372, as of that date, and the total general obligation indebtedness is $140,563, representing approximately one percent of the total assessed valuation of the city.

"The city (Bay St. Louis) could issue $1,176,177 in bonds without reaching the 15 percent limitation set out by state law.

"The city has a very low general obligation bond indebtedness at this time and that's the most favorable situation" to be in to issue bonds," Mallett was reported as having testified.

City officials decried the Mallett testimony again stating the finances of the city in fact precluded their paying needed attention to several demanding projects.

Legal entries seeking to have the judgement discarded or reduced having failed Bay St. Louis last fall filed for an adjustment of debts under Chapter 9, Title 11, of the federal bankruptcy act, a section designed to be availed of by a municipality in financial trouble.

The bankruptcy act grants the court the power to permit municipalities to issue certificates of indebtedness to pay its debts.

Judge Cox this week was reported as having said, "This municipality has no insurance and was simply unable to pay the debt of the judgement credit and continue to function as a municipality and extend proper services to its citizens.

It has a limited range of means with which to satisfy the judgement, even though it is solvent, but it must continue to satisfy the wants and needs of the citizens of the municipality irrespective of the existence of this judgement."

"It is clearly the policy of this act to allow a municipality to function and serve its citizens without more restraint from this judgement creditor than is absolutely necessary.

"The plan proposed by the creditor simply does not provide any available means of disposing of this judgement without impinging upon Chapter 9 of this bankruptcy act. There are impediments by state statute to any levy of ad valorem taxes in excess of 15 mills on the dollar."

He said, "It is the considered view of this court that the proposed plan of the municipality to borrow the necessary money from a bank to amortize the indebtedness should be immediately explored and favorably considered."

Attorneys for the city and the plaintiff are to meet with Judge Cox on April 7 in Jackson, ordered to look at the "propriety or the necessity for issuing a certificate of indebtedness for $435,000, for the city to settle its debt."

The mayor yesterday also declined to discuss any further legal moves possibly open to or being considered by the city, nor on any additional suits that could arise out of the case.

as a "multi-use facility," designed to provide for the school's physical education program, as well as serving as a home for its basketball team 'The Rock-a-Chaws,' and for general assemblies.

Prominent among the many features of the structure is the complete lack of outside windows, instead being lit in daylight hours through the utilization of a network of skylights sunk into the roof.

"This reduces the heating load, provides the light, yet prevents glare, and provides for an energy efficient building," Wagner explained.

Seating 1500, the building's support facilities, such as locker and shower rooms, are positioned for maximum convenience in its comprehensive physical education provision design.

TOUR TRAFFIC JAM—A traffic jam from Dunbar Avenue to North Beach Boulevard along Leonard Street in Bay St. Louis resulted from the unexpected surge of visitors and local residents who braved the spectacular weather Wednesday to start the Bay-Waveland Spring Pilgrimage tour at the Leonard Street Garden Center of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club. are based on the dreams of her childhood, through portraits, seascapes, and landscapes.

Winner of many art awards, and four time recipient of the E. Emerson Albright Award, she has had many one woman shows, including the International House, New Orleans.

She has been commissioned to do paintings for entire complexes, such as Jefferson Parish Medical Center and America's outstanding race tracks, Del Mar, Turf Paradise, and Phoenix Downs.

Old Victorian things are among her special loves, as reflected in her studio, she designed, overlooking a quiet bay and stretch of Coastal water.

Will Hinds

Acclaimed as one of the county's foremost investment artists, Will Hinds captures the rural Southland in scenes designed by nature.

His intense realistic style expresses nature as it is, every detail emphasized from blade of grass to individual leaf.

His works are noted as a unique blend of ideal art and super realism, and have been described as speaking a language of "nature, tranquil and eternal."

Reared in Southwest Louisiana, Hinds paints fields of flowers, remnants of old landmarks - a century-old oak, clad in moss - forgotten farm tools - a deserted shanty, and country roads.

T. Kent Vesper, noted art critic, said of Hinds, "The painting of this Southern artist lead one to believe, a spirit of the past guides the photographic brush... Each work captures what was there before, the best of what has been.

Recipient of numerous major art awards, his works on display in museum and private collections, Hinds has been acclaimed for his, "...authentic contribution to the preservation of the rich heritage and traditions of America...the living past for present and future generations."

support bears whose diet consists mainly of grubs, fruit and the like.

"If we get enough complaints, the Game and Fish Commission would take action to control the bears, but I don't see any reason for them to move at this time," Cameron pointed out.

The latest cattle disturbance attributed to the "Caesar Big Foot" was last Friday night on the Karl Goss Farm.

The "big foot" rumors started in the community last January after Goss' son Grayson, while deer hunting, heard a large creature crashing through the brush and uttering a guttural roar.

"At first I thought it was two deer fighting, but it was so loud that I walked to the edge of a pine ridge to see," young Goss reported.

"Then is when I heard it make a sound. I got real scared and got back in the truck and left," he added.

Cameron was called in, at that point and helped in locating the evidence of the bear.

Tracks in the area measured a foot long and six to seven inches wide, spaced about five feet apart.

Each print indicated four 1.5-inch claws, with one of the imprints showing a small protrusion resembling a toe.

Naturalists in the area are reportedly elated with the indications of a true wilderness animal still surviving in northern Hancock County.

The area, coupled with adjoining sections of Pearl River and Harrison County, is considered one of southern Mississippi's true wilderness areas and threatened to soon be practically devoid of wildlife.

Deputy Delbert Seay of Sheriff Ladner's office Wednesday morning was investigating the third killing of a calf on the McGehee farm. A fourth animal was found suffering gunshot wounds of the shoulder and leg.

The dead calf, a white-faced bull, apparently had been shot in the head, and its belly had been ripped open.

Last week, a calf on the McGehee farm was killed by a "gut shot," a rifle or shotgun slug fired through the rear end of the animal causing it to die slowly by internal bleeding.

In the meantime, the calf's ears were cut off, mouth mutilated, and teats sliced off the udder.

Sheriff Ladner and Deputy Seay are convinced the mutilations are the work of the same person or persons who are shooting the cattle.

However, the farm editor of the Wichita Falls, Tex., News-Record told the Echo this week officials in that area concluded after a long series of similar mutilations that it was the work of cayotes.

"None of the cayotes I know carry rifles and shotguns," Sheriff Ladner said of the shooting deaths of the cattle in Hancock County.

"No matter how cattle die, smaller scavenging animals—maybe wolves or foxes in your area—will go for the soft parts of the cow, such as the sexual organs, ears, lips, udder, and so on, said editor Ed Brown of the Texas newspaper.

McGehee and his wife have reported a mounting concern and uneasiness in the face of the continued harassment and death of their animals.

The couple, along with their two sons and neighbor Jay Courtault have said they can think of no reason why such cattle killings would be concentrated on their farm.

Earlier reports of a cultish appearance to the slayings have now been discounted by the sheriff's office. "This is definitely the work of some character who is not playing with a full deck," Seay reported.

The mutilations have been reported as "brutal" and "sick" by those who have witnessed the results.

Aside from the inhumane nature of the killings, McGehee said the slaughtered animals have been "worth from $150 to $200 apiece."

Undefeated Tigerettes out-distance quintet

The Tigerettes from Bay High out pointed five teams to take first place in a track meet Tuesday in Biloxi with a total of 54 points.

Host Biloxi came in second with a 46 point tally, with Gulfport third at 30, Ocean Springs fourth with 27, St. Martin fifth with 13, and Hancock North Central trailing with two.

Sprinter Valada Lewis won first place in the 50, 75 and 100 yard dashes, with times of 6.4, 9.0, and 11.6 seconds.

The Tigerette relay team of Lewis, Janet Sheppard, Gloria Hargett and Cynthia Jackson brought home three blue ribbons from the track. In the 200 relay, the Tigerettes crossed the line in 24.2 seconds. Their time in the 300 was 35.2 seconds, and in the 400 the time was 51.4.

Amy Hill took her first victory in the baseball throw, sending the ball soaring 222 feet 8 inches for the top slot.

"Hill has really worked hard for this," commented girls' track coach Willie Bradley. "She has been constantly improving and now she has come around for us."

The winning team also netted four second place trophies at the meet. In the long jump Cynthia Jackson sailed 16 feet, while Patricia Jackson ran the 440 dash in 66.9 seconds for two second slots.

Runners-up in the relay events were Patricia Jackson, Sheppard, Lisa Thomas, and Hargett in the mile at 4:31. The team of Patricia Jackson, Carol Dunklin, Annie Harrington, and Thomas had a time of 37.3 seconds, in the B-team 300 relay for second place, and a time of 25.9 in the 200, for third.

In the high jump Cynthia Jackson came in fourth with a height of four feet, four inches.

The undefeated Tigerettes travel to d'Iberville Friday.

Twelve hit the green for first Easter Classic

Dale Loiacano shot a smooth 67 to claim the first place trophy in the first annual Bayside Easter Classic on Sunday at Bayside Park.

Billy May took second with 73 over the 18-hole course, followed by Bobby Parker in third and Jimmy Loiacano in fourth.

Alvin Lafontaine finished in fifth place, with Bart Corr in sixth. Larry Johnson and Anthony Ladner took seventh and eighth places, while Kelly McQueen slid into ninth.

Al Jacob, Jackie Strong, and Jimmy Perniciaro wound out the field of twelve in the invitational sponsored by the Bayside club. Herb Dubuisson coordinated the tournament for the Park, which opens for the summer on Saturday.

SHOT PUT. - Gene Rogers practices shot put at Rock stadium. Rogers took first in shot put and discus in triangular meet at St. Stanislaus Tuesday. SSC took second place in over all meet, falling behind Harrison Central.

Babe Ruth tryouts, season openers set

Tryouts for the Bay St. Louis Babe Ruth Baseball Association 1978 season are set for 9 a.m. until 12 noon Saturday, April 1, and from 2-5 p.m. Sunday, April 2 and 9 at the Bay High diamond.

Young people between 13 and 15 years old who are interested in taking part should bring one dollar for an identification card fee and a certified birth certificate to at least one of these tryouts.

Bay St. Louis, a recognized leader in Mississippi Babe Ruth competition, will sponsor a five team league consisting of last year's champion American Legion, second placed Coast Electric, Rotary Club, Dixie Realty, and Chase Construction.

Although three new teams from Pearlinton and Waveland applied for admission into the Bay League, they were turned down by the Parks and Playground Commission because of the lack of playing facilities.

"We have one of the finest leagues in the state," commented Manieri, "however, we couldn't allow these new teams to enter because we have only the use of one diamond."

"Presently, each team plays a 16 game season: eight games per round. The play offs for the league championship are then held, and the league turns its attention to the All Stars team. If these new teams entered, the season would end late and bring about several complications," she added.

"First, the All Stars would not get the added practice time they need before entering the State Tournament," Manieri said. "There would also be too large of a gap between games and the kids would begin losing interest in the entire program."

Bay St. Louis has sent teams to the state tourney for the past four seasons. The 13 years old All Stars, under the direction of Manager Bill Breland and coaches Stacky Strong and Wimpy Seymour, captured the state crown and then went on to play in the regional competition held in Shelbyville, Tennessee.

Last year's 14 and 15 year olds placed second in the state tourney, falling only to Long Beach in the finals. This year's 15 year olds, the 13 year olds of 1976, are one of the top ranked squads participating in the upcoming state tourney slated for July in Mount Olive.

The American Legion and Rotary square off in this season's opener at 5 p.m. on Sunday, May 21, followed by the Coast Electric-Dixie Realty match-up.

BSL Little Leaguers set tryouts

Little League tryouts for Bay St. Louis will be Saturday, April 1, at McDonald Field on the corner of Dunbar and Ulman Avenue. For the nine and ten year olds, tryouts will be from 9 a.m. until 12 noon. Eleven and twelve year olds will begin at 1 p.m. and end at 3.

The 1978 Little League season will begin on Saturday, May 6th, opening with the annual parade followed by a triple header. Hancock Bank will begin its defense of its 1977 League Championship. The League expects to have its strongest season ever due to the fine showing of its return of the entire nine and ten year old All Stars from last year's state championship team.

Officers for the 1978 season are: Donn Murray, president; Curtis Hegwood, vice president; John Rosett, treasurer; Nolen Breland, secretary; Woody Pierce, player agent; Rowe Crowder, safety director; Ron Murray, umpire-in-chief; and Ken Murray, assistant umpire-in-chief.

OLA-SSChost Gulf racquet invitational

Fourteen tennis teams will present outstanding players when Our Lady's Academy-St. Stanislaus racquet team hosts the Coast Invitational Tournament, 8 a.m. Saturday at Tennis World in Diamondhead.

In early morning action, Tommy Wild of SSC takes on Jimmy Bullock of St. John, and Owen Scales of Coast Episcopal meets Jeff Alexander of Long Beach, in boys' singles. In girls' singles, Cynthia Collins of Bay High plays Robyn Russell of St. John. Edgar Santa Cruz and Phil Schmidt team up for SSC against the boys' doubles team from St. John.

The Long Beach and Gulfport girls' doubles teams are set for 8 a.m., while two mixed doubles matches will be played at that time. Gray Parker and Julie Scales of Coast Episcopal meet the Gulfport team in mixed doubles, while Steve Ulrich and Jennifer Humphries of Pass Christian face Grant Chandler and Leslie Furman of SSC-OLA.

Matches scheduled for later times will play on the next available court. The first round of play will be decided by a pro-set, playing a tie-breaker at eight-all, if necessary. The second round will be decided by two out of three sets, but the play will be ended when a player receives four points to win.

The semi-finals and finals will be played in two out of three sets, with a tie-breaker at six-all. The nine point tie-breaker will be used in all cases.

Liz Lagarde in girls' singles and Joan Dickinson and Margaret Sportono in girls' doubles are in the top slots in their events, for Our Lady's Academy. Robin Roberts of Pass Christian is seeded third in girls' singles, while Colin Jones and Abbie Murtagh representing Bay High are ranked fourth in mixed matches.

CCC TO REUNITE. The annual reunion of the South Mississippi Association of the Civilian Conservation Corps will be at Paul B. Johnson State Park on Saturday and Sunday, April 1 and 2. The CCC played a major role in development of the state park system, expanding the initial nine park areas to 19 state parks and four historic sites since 1930. Registration will be from 8:30 until 10:30 a.m. on April 1 at the park's Visitors Center. A fee of $10 will cover meals and lodging at the group camp.

NRA BATTLES OSHA RULING

A citation against Olinkraft, Inc., a Louisiana timber company, claiming the presence of hunters on woodlands creates an "unsafe workplace" for the firm's employees has sparked National Rifle Association support for legislation by U.S. Senator James A. McClure of Idaho, prohibiting the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) from dealing in any way with shooting sports. The OSHA action against Olinkraft was taken in December, reportedly after one worker complained that hunting presented a possible hazard to workers in the timberlands. The Louisiana firm operates on 500,000 acres of land in the state.

PRC GIRLS BASKETBALL

Tryouts for the girls basketball team at Pearl River Junior College are set for 9:30 a.m. Saturday April 1, in the PRC coliseum. Any high school senior girls from the Pearl River supporting district, including Pearl River, Hancock, Forrest, Lamar, Jefferson Davis and Marion counties, interested in playing basketball for the Lady Wildcats should attend. No pre-registration is necessary, according to the team's head coach, Fred Roane.

MSU FOOTBALL CAMP

Staffed by four pro football players and the MSU coaches, the 1978 Mississippi State Summer Football Camp is now accepting applications. The camp, slated for June 4-10 on the Starkville Campus, will feature defensive tackle Jimmy Webb of the San Francisco 49ers, back Clarence Harmon of the Washington Redskins, back Walter Packer of Tampa Bay, and Stan Black with the 49'ers.

Prospective campers may write: MSU Football Camp, Drawer 5327, Mississippi State, Ms. 39762, or call 325-2311 for details.

BULLDOG DAY

Head Coach and Athletic Director Bob Tyler has designated Saturday, April 1, as the second annual "Bulldog Club Day" during spring football practice at Mississippi State. The program, open to all members of the Bulldog Club, features a tour of the newly-opened Physical Fitness Complex, an autograph and picture-taking ceremony with the football team, and an intra-squad scrimmage.

SEMINARS & WORKSHOPS

Workshops and seminars to be conducted by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service at various locations in the state during April include a Yard and Garden Clinic beginning at noon Thursday, April 6, at Edgewater Plaza on US-90, and a Conservation Clinic in the pavilion and dock area of Paul B. Johnson State Park near Wiggins from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, April 4, 5, and 6.

LAWN-A-THON

Get your yard in shape for spring! Help the Special Olympics Lawn-a-thon! In effort to raise money for the Special Olympics, members of the Special Olympics team from Bay Senior High will mow and rake lawns, weed existing gardens, dig new gardens, etc., for fees ranging from five dollars to twenty-five dollars depending on size of yard and amount of work. The date set for the Lawn-a-thon is Saturday, April 1, and Sunday, April 2. The work of the team will be supervised by Billy and Lynn Stechmann. To make an appointment to have your yard cleaned or for further information call the Stechmann residence after 6 p.m. at 467-3020.

PCI ITALIAN OPEN

Two hundred and thirty seven entries participated in the Fourth Annual Italian Open Golf Tournament directed by Grand Marshal Frank Cefalu and Lynn Rabalais at the Pass Christian Isles Golf Club, recently. A. Colleton and G. Alley teamed up for first place, with R. Reineke and J. Carter netting low gross. K. Provensol and A. Childress came in second while G. Young and S. Sessum took third. Iva Mae McDonald and her partner T. Miller placed tenth.

USM INVITATIONAL

The 17th annual USM Invitational Tennis Tournament, hosting 27 teams, will be held on the University of Southern Mississippi campus March 30 - April 1. Teams primarily from Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Florida, including 16 men's teams and 11 women's, will participate in the event.

New camper reservation policy told

Hancock Campers have been advised that effective immediately a new policy has been adopted concerning one or two day visit reservations in the Pat Harrison Waterway District parks.

Under the new arrangement, one night reservations can be made no more than 24 hours in advance, while two day stay reservations can be made no more than six days in advance.

Reservations for periods of three days are limited to 50 days advance notice; four through seven days, six months in advance, and seven days, no more than 12 months ahead.

The changes, according to William A. Allen, have been made to help the public have a better opportunity to enjoy the water parks.

"The new reservation schedule will help the camper arriving on short notice," Allen said.

Allen also said that no restrictions have been placed on skiing and that lakes allowing the activity are open seven days a week without restriction on ski boats.

'College Managers'

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, Division of Labor Force, the 1977 unemployment rate for college graduates (up to 24 years of age) was 8.9 percent. With the 1978 unemployment rate showing no appreciable signs of diminishing, the picture for some June graduates may not be too bright.

Graduates entering the job market are encountering a number of problems. Many young men and women will discover that they haven't taken the courses that will qualify them for jobs in a promising career field. Still more will find even the most carefully chosen field of study needs something extra to make a job applicant competitive with his peers.

In many cases, this extra something could be management training and experience. Employers want junior executive trainees mature enough to accept responsibility, work within a team structure, and able to make decisions.

For approximately 6,000 graduates, however, it may be a different story. These young people are those who chose to enroll in Army ROTC and get their management training and experience as a part of their college studies. Although many of these graduates will have taken part in the traditional four-year course, a sizable percentage were enrolled in the Army ROTC Two-Year Program.

During the summer before their junior year, they attended a six-week, paid summer camp located at one of the major Army posts. While completing this Basic Camp, the students had an opportunity to check out the Army, to test themselves mentally and physically, and to give Army officers in charge of the program a chance to see if they were qualified to continue into the Advanced Course.

Those men and women who are accepted into the Army ROTC Two-Year Program receive a living allowance of up to $1000 per year plus payment for attending an Advanced Camp held the summer between their junior and senior years. There are also merit scholarships available on a competitive basis which pay for tuition, textbooks and other education expenses.

Those cadets who receive scholarships have a 4-year active Army obligation after receiving their commission as second lieutenants. Non-scholarship cadets may be selected for active duty, or fulfill their obligation by serving as officers in the Army Reserve or the Army National Guard.

In either case, the new Army officer will have had the advantage of training designed to develop leadership potential and self-confidence which are strong assets in either the Army or with a potential employer.

State tag wins award

The design for Mississippi's license tag has been selected as the best in the United States and Canada by the Automobile License Plate Collectors Association.

ALPCA Officials presented the award

Thursday to Governor Cliff Finch, who is also chairman of the Tague Commission, and Motor Vehicle Comptroller officials.

Out of a total of 242 votes cast, 90 ALPCA members chose Mississippi for the award. The closest contender was Minnesota with 61 votes for its lake-scene design.

Alabama was third with 27 votes followed by Saskatchewan, 21, and Tennessee, 19.

The Mississippi tag will be used for five years under a new system of applying annual design. It has a silk-screened magnolia blossom and leaves in a light yellow-green, with the lettering in dark green and the border, numbers and county embossed in red.

Judge Logan to serve at Ole Miss seminar

Circuit Court Judge Floyd Logan of Gulfport, serving the 2nd Judicial District, including Hancock, Harrison and Stone counties, will be a panelist at a seminar for Mississippi judiciary, March 30-April 1 at The University of Mississippi Law Center.

The conference is sponsored by the Mississippi Judicial College, the Ole Miss Law Center activity devoted to the continuing education and training of the state's judiciary.

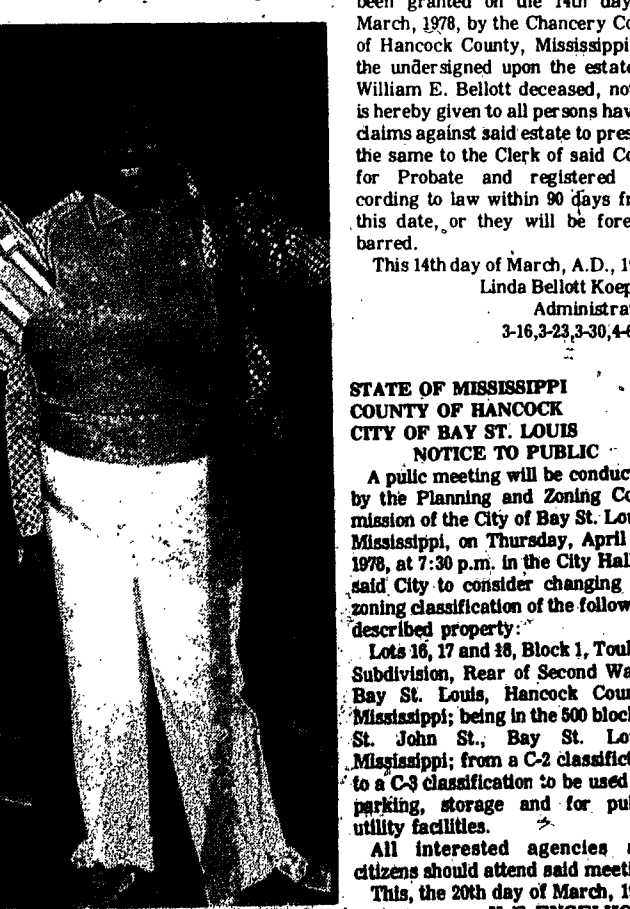

The program will emphasize community relations and education, docket and calendar management and problems that emerge during discovery - the pretrial procedure designed to simplify trials by revealing evidence to both parties in the law suit.

Other topics include the Mississippi uniform rules of criminal practice and procedure, the rights of illegitimate children and residential drug treatment centers.

Conference speakers and panelists include circuit court judges from throughout the state, Mississippi county court judges and chancellors, representatives of the press, prominent attorneys and members of the Ole Miss faculty.

Approximately 65 circuit, chancery, county and municipal judges are expected to attend the seminar, according to Robert D. Church, director of the Mississippi Judicial College.

The conference coincides with Ole Miss Law Weekend and the 1978 Matthews Lecture Series featuring F. Hodge O'Neal, Madill Distinguished
